Hannah Giddings escorts Stereo Wilkins into the school early on the first day.

Chris Bennett laughs as he walks confidently across the gym floor.

Summer had ended, and the halls were filled with excitement and laughter on August 27, 2007. Seniors caught wind of the fact that their driving privileges had been revoked, though the parking lot was filled on the first day. They entered confidently and excitedly due to the fact it was their last first day. The freshmen timidly roamed the hallways looking for their place and were escorted to the auditorium by upperclass mentors. Juniors came in knowing they were now upperclassmen and were quite happy about it. The sophomores were not as excited, but they were just glad they weren't considered freshmen anymore. As the day progressed, students started classes and sat through an assembly reviewing policies and expectations. This year was going to be the best year ever!

True Life . .

In A Pocahontas County Warrior!

Every year new students enter Pocahontas County High School, "old ones" return happy to be advancing one more step toward graduation, and some find it completely pointless and boring to be at school. Things got off to a good start for the year on August 27, 2007. Students were glad to see old friends and to meet the freshmen. The student body consisted of 375 students. Students began planning for graduation, blueprinting for the prom, selecting majors, and much more. Throughout the year, many activities arose, giving students more to think about and allowing them to cherish another memory.

Attendants

There were many events going on at PCHS during the school year. One popular event was Homecoming. The individual classes elected two attendants to represent their class, and the senior class also elected three Queen and King candidates. After the class elections, the entire student body voted on Homecoming King & Queen. After an exciting Spirit Week, on October 20, 2007, Homecoming day finally arrived. After a grueling first half of the football game against Parkersburg Catholic, it was time to hear the results. Homecoming Queen was Kayla Ramsey and King was Wyatt Turner. The Warriors played a tough game and defeated the Parkersburg Catholic Crusaders 37-22.

A black and white photograph showing a group of people gathered around a large, tilted board. The board is covered with numerous small, square and rectangular images, possibly photographs or drawings, arranged in a somewhat haphazard manner. Two women are in the foreground, looking at the board. A man wearing a cap is on the right. The board has some handwritten text, including "A 1911" and "D!". The background shows a building with a sign that says "113".

This fall PCHS worked hard to make an effective spirit week. The theme was "Tribe of One." The students participated in Decade Day, Class Color Day, and Maroon and Gold or Favorite Sports Team Day. Juniors won the powderpuff game after a good fight against the other teams. Seniors won spirit week overall with their impressive display of banner and bulletin board, as well as having a better turnout of participation on the dress-up days. The week ended with much participation from each class and a great turnout overall. The students raised several hundred dollars for the Breast Cancer Foundation by selling spirit links.

High school is supposed to be the best time of our lives, a time of transition from the child in middle school to the adult that is about to finish high school. Throughout time, our perception of what made a person our friend had changed. For many of us, the person we called our best friend in kindergarten was the one who sat beside us in class and shared his or her red crayon when all we had was a broken black one. Perhaps in the fifth grade your best friend helped you stand up to the class bully when no one else would. In high school, our best friend was the one who helped us through our recent breakup with our girlfriend or boyfriend, kept our secrets, and was there the day we graduated to share our happiness. When we leave high school, we'll have remembered all our times at POHS, but we will mostly remember our times with our best friends.

Career day is a time for students to find out what college they want to attend or other opportunities they have after high school. They get a chance to talk to people from the military and representatives from colleges. Students get to ask questions that they might have so they know if they really want to continue their plans and go to college or the military. Seniors worked hard this year on their mentorships so they could graduate in May. Mentorship gives seniors the opportunity to have a work-based experience on the job to see if they really want to pursue the same career. They have to complete forty hours on the job, after that they have a lot of paperwork to complete and a presentation to three teachers.

The Spanish Club and Spanish Honor Society had a busy year. They started off the year volunteering at NRAO's 50th anniversary. Then they again teamed up with NRAO and helped construct and paint the first ever NRAO haunted house. They also fundraised by selling candy. They used some of the money they made in the fall for a trip to Carmona's in Buckhannon. At the Foreign Language Festival many students participated in cooking and skits.

The purpose of Drama Club is to support, create and expand theatre at PCHS. Drama meets twice a month and is open for anyone who loves theatre. Short activities and drama exercises and games are the major focus of each member. A yearly trip to Greenbrier Valley Theatre expands students' knowledge of the arts. The club supports the theatre classes' productions and develops and performs a program for the NRAO once a year.

This year P.C.H.S. held a variety of assemblies. Mr. Ziegler organized Sadie Hawkins day, which was a wonderful fund-raiser for the freshman class. Another exciting assembly was the senior talent show. The student body showed amazing talent while performing their various arts. Ms. Boothe had another successful Elf Auction. The proceeds from the auction funded the efforts of Project Christmas such as the teddy bear drive for disaster relief victims. Assemblies were a time when students got out of class for an educational event or something that they have earned for being on their best behavior. Students got time to show off their talent or exercise in sports events sponsored by the school.

Many Pocahontas County High School students traveled many places this year, not just to go on trips but also to give the students a chance to show off their talents. FBLA traveled to Charleston to compete in business, and senior Caitlin Sharp placed first in her event to go on to Nationals. FBLA also had another group of students place on the state level: Cody Perkins, JD Mallow, and Adrianna McMillion placed third in their event. The Spanish club worked hard this year to earn money by selling candy and holding a haunted house, so that they could travel to Buchanan to eat at a restaurant called Carmona's. FFA had worked hard to raise money for the group to travel to Busch Gardens where they had a day of fun in the sun. Skills U.S.A. traveled to Charleston to compete in many different events. David Mitchell placed second in this event, and the Business Procedures team placed first.

True Life ...

A Day in the Life of a Warrior.

Pocahontas County High School had a very dynamic group of students as well as faculty and staff. Our school changed directions in administration by doing away with the Vice Principal position and making it Dean of Students. This year also claimed several of our teachers for retirement. As for our seniors, many were college bound with high ACT scores and a Promise Scholarship in their pockets while other seniors chose to walk a different path into the military or the "real world" of work. Juniors were taking a close look at their futures and making plans to achieve those future goals. Sophomores were glad to have survived their first year at the high school and were declaring clusters and majors. Freshmen were nervous about lockers, making new friends, and getting to their classes on time. Many students found extra time to pursue sports and after-school jobs, while many just enjoyed being students. With heads held high and a positive outlook, P.C.H.S. students marched proudly into the 21st Century.

People

August 27, 2007 launched the first day of our senior year. It was filled with excitement because it was our last year of high school and we wanted to make the best of it. However, in all the excitement there came disappointments as we discovered that we were not allowed to drive this year. We tried very hard to get the rule changed, but we were unsuccessful. We also discovered that we were the first class required to take civics as our fourth social studies before we could graduate. Later our spirits were lifted as we pulled together and won spirit week for the first time.

As the months went by, some seniors were stressing to get those final classes they needed to graduate, but when May rolled around they were all excited to be able to walk across the stage and receive their diplomas.

Class of 2009

The junior year for the graduating class of 2009 was a busy one, but it was also important and exciting. Juniors organized the Homecoming Dance and the Junior-Senior Prom and spent a lot of time planning for these events. The juniors also focused on their schoolwork and future plans. They worked hard, to gain credits toward their 28 required in order to graduate. Some Juniors prepared for college by taking the PSAT, ACT and other standardized tests. College Day oriented them toward thinking about future plans and opened up new possibilities. Juniors looked forward to the year they would be on top.

Class of 2010

Becoming a sophomore opens a lot of new doors during high school. Students grow to be more comfortable in their surroundings, gain confidence, and begin thinking about the future. The class of 2010 had fully taken advantage of the change. This was a time for sophomores to declare their major of study and consider their classes for the coming years. Students had also prepared for required standardized testing such as the Plan Test and the WV Writing Assessment. In addition to all the academic hurdles being jumped, the class had to find time to begin fund-raising for events such as prom and graduation. Despite all the new responsibilities, some students had sailed beyond expectations. There is a greatness expected from the class of 2010 in the coming years which we are confident that they will reach.

Class of 2011

Ahh...freshman year, the year filled with multiple changes and challenges. The Freshman would learn to get along with kids who were their previous rivals in middle school, and get used to the new block scheduling. They had to look forward to meeting their new teachers and hopefully getting along well with upper-classmen. As late August passed and September arrived, they made their first decision as a class, voting on their class officers, homecoming attendant and escort. As the year went on they began to adjust to the new routine and find their place in the high school.

The faculty and staff of P.C.H.S. were very dedicated to helping the students succeed. Teachers kept students on their toes with all the activities they offered which included: Drama, FCA, FFA, French and Spanish Honor Societies, National Honor Society, Media, Project Christmas, Drama, VICA, Old Time Music, Science Fair, SCA, FBLA, Spanish Club, 4H-Forestry, Junior Committee, Natural Helpers, and TATU. Due to the retirement of Mrs. Kathy McGee, Mrs. Sharon Vance, and Mr. Delmos Barb, we have lost great minds of wisdom. Overall, they accumulated more than 100 years of teaching experience. They will be greatly missed by all.

True Life ...

Seeking the Unknown

Learning new information and just simply going to class is a huge part of going to high school. Being one of the few schools that require 28 credits to graduate, students spend most of their day cramming their brains. All students still have the same English, Math, Science, History, Gym, Health, and career cluster requirements along with the necessary 72 hours of work-based experience. Even with all these classes and graduation requirements, students still seem to have fun and take interesting elective and vocational classes. Some students opt to take college credit classes during high school. Whether students prefer vocational, music, art, or college classes, a variety of possibilities exist in many directions. Even though P.C.H.S. is a small school, we offer many classes that are of interest to the students. When selecting classes to take, students should choose wisely because it can shape the rest of their lives. Since academics are the main focus in high school, students need to plan their schedules carefully and do their best possible in every class.

Academics

The Language Arts department was always full of fun and exciting lessons. Whether they were reading a short story, acting out Macbeth or participating in the fall term play "A Christmas Carol," students were never bored in their language classes. The English teachers each brought their own unique approach to teaching the written word. Each year, every student must take some form of English or literature. They could also take theatre, short stories or creative writing as well as Advanced Placement English. Several students also had the opportunity to participate in ESSH (English, Social Studies, and Humanities). This was an advanced course that combined three areas of learning. Students had summer activities to complete as well as in-class lessons that were more challenging, gearing them toward their future plans as a college bound student.

Science went beyond the text books this year in 2007-2008. With the availability of satellite and internet, former and current anatomy students were able to participate in a virtual surgery project conducted at Raleigh General Hospital. Likewise, Earth Science students were able to be involved in an archeological dig at a Revolutionary War era fort, Warwick Fort. They also had the opportunity to take a trip to Poor Farm Cave as a part of their study of rocks, mineral, and cave formations. With the new advancements in technology and scientific discoveries, students in the future will be able to learn in ways we are yet to imagine.

It was an exciting year in the Math Department, full of changes. Mrs. McGee decided to retire after first term taking 30 plus years of teaching experience and a wealth of knowledge with her. Mrs. Whiteis did well filling the shoes Mrs. McGee left behind. Mr. D also stepped up to the plate and instructed students for another successful math field day. Mrs. Rhea remained a steady force in the math program, helping freshman with the difficult transition from middle school. With all the changes in staff and up-coming changes in math requirements, P.C.H.S. is boldly stepping into the 21st century.

The Social Studies Department suffered another big loss this year. Not only did Mrs. Vance retire second term, Mr. Lindsey filled in as assistant principal which resulted in a substitute, Ms. Hrabina, stepping in. Mrs. Martin helped to teach a few History classes as well. The Social Studies classes that were offered this year included American History 1 & 2, Advanced American History 1, World History, and Civics. One big project that most History students faced was the Social Studies Fair presentations. The school fair was March 18, and the county fair was March 29. Many students choose to take foreign language or art as part of their schedule. PCHS offers Spanish as the only foreign language but has a French Honor Society. The Spanish Club had their annual candy bar sales and traveled to Roanoke, VA to eat authentic food. On May 4th, foreign language and art were celebrated at PCHS when the Foreign Language Festival took place. Poster contests, speech pronunciations, and cooking contests took place which displayed their best work. Also in May, the annual Evening of the Arts program was held at the Opera House in Marlinton. Art classes offered this year included Art 1 and 2, Ceramics, Studio Art and a number of independent studies. Art and foreign language inspired some students and motivated them to pursue a career in these fields.

Consumer Sciences and Driver Education prepare students for the future. In Driver Education/Parenting, which is broken into nine-week courses, the students learn the responsibilities of the road and what to expect when they decide to become parents. Driver Education gives students the opportunity to get behind the wheel and the knowledge to purchase their own vehicles. Travel West Virginia teaches the students about West Virginia's history, while Culinary I and II teach the basics on cooking, budgeting skills, customer relations, and marketing. Human Development and Relationships teaches students how to promote growth and development in their relationships with friends and family. All of these courses will have some sort of an effect on the students' lives, whether it's how to change a diaper or knowing what the road signs mean.

The Electricity and Electronics classes have been all wired up and in full circuit. Students get a great opportunity to put their classwork into action with a contingency basis created with the board of education. This is where students are able to work around the school with supervision and guidance. A student who also participates in all required classes in a field are eligible to take the certification test for their licenses. This 2007-2008 Wanoka Band, directed by Mr. Gregory Richmond, included 40 playing members and 7 auxiliary. The students began band in the summer during a week of band camp to prepare for competitions. The competitions consisted of long days and hard work. The Band also played at home football games. This year, the band played movie themes composed by John Williams. The choir also worked hard preparing for their annual Christmas concert. The band traveled to Elkins for ratings where they received well-earned scores. They wrapped up the year with the Spring concert where both the Band and Jazz Band performed different arrangements. Music Appreciation kicked off the year learning about classical music and music of the different periods.

Mrs. Kesterson, the Business & Yearbook teacher, was always busy, no matter what. She had to keep up with her business classes and make sure all the yearbook deadlines were met. This year was Mrs. Kesterson's first year teaching Office Management. She did a great job for it being her first time. We worked on vocabulary and PowerPoints. The other business classes were always busy doing projects and learning about the difficult world of business. Yearbook students were always trying to meet their deadlines and fund-raising to pay for the yearbook. While taking these classes, you were always on your toes trying to get things done. Mrs. Kesterson's way of teaching was easy and fun! She made these classes very interesting, in a way that grabbed us instead of being so boring. You're always hearing business classes are boring -- well Mrs. K's aren't! She's a true definition of a great teacher and a wonderful leader!

PCHS gym students saw a new face this year. Mr. Anderson replaced Mr. Barb for the 2007-2008 school year as the physical education teacher as well as history teacher. He kept the students very busy with traditional games and physical activities as well as a new addition to the program, Dance Dance Revolution. Health students, unlike gym students, were taught by a familiar face. Mr. Knisely started another year of health studies with his students this year. Some of the subjects touched on were the effects drugs have on the body, reproduction, personal hygiene, and personal safety. Both subjects, physical education and health, are required of all high school students in order to graduate.

This was a very exciting year for the building construction class. They sold their first module house which was moved out in two pieces. They received enough money from the sale to get a big head start for the new house, they started second term. It was a sad year for the welding program. Mr. Irvine decided to pursue a different career and left P.C.H.S. soon after second term began. The school system felt that with all the upcoming budget cuts that it would be in the best interest of the school to do away with the welding program in its entirety. Mr. Norris Long did step up to the plate and completed the 07-08 school year as the substitute welding teacher.

Forestry and Agriculture Education classes were vocational electives offered both terms at R.C.H.S. Forestry was taught by Mr. Burns, and Agriculture Education was taught by our new teacher, Ms. Davis. Forestry Management introduced topics such as the study of trees, tree measurement, boundary surveying, economics, and forest fire suppression. Forestry I was the introduction to Forestry, in which students worked on forest harvesting, safety, end-loader tractors, and operating chain saws. Forestry II & III consisted of the layout of logs and timber. Now taught by Ms. Davis was Horticulture, where you learned how to transplant plants and plant grafting, etc. She also taught animal science & production which gives students knowledge of the commercial livestock industry. Agriculture and Natural Resources I & 2 were taught by our new teacher also. These classes consist of saving the wood and cotton, food labs, and students also have to give a class speech on an Agriculture-related topic.

One reason people joined sports was to eliminate boredom. There were so many types of sports and many variations of how they are played. The sports offered at P.C.H.S. were: golf, boys and girls basketball, football, boys and girls soccer, volleyball, track, baseball, cheerleading, and softball. Playing sports is competitive, and there were fantastic athletes on the teams. Students participating in sports increase their concentration and thinking skills. Some other benefits that come from being an athlete are: increasing physical strength and at the end of each game knowing that you were proud of yourself for what you accomplished. Some people look at athletes as "jocks" but the athletes know that they have achieved something positive in themselves. Most athletes know that the best things that they received out of playing sports were the friendships they made and the victories that they accomplished together.

What do you like best about coaching?

I enjoy working with athletes that want to put in the time and effort as individuals, to accomplish goals as a team because the experiences you have at a young age will last you a lifetime

What did you like most about the season?

Having coaches, golf course personnel, and parents from other schools talk about how well mannered and polite the Pocahontas County golf team students are.

What are your plans for next season?

I plan for next season, provided we have enough players, to be my last year as the golf coach. I have been the golf coach for six years, and each year it seems as though we are getting less and less interest from the students. I'm not sure if that is due to the fact many of our students have never been introduced to the game of golf.

Who is our biggest competition?

The state tournament format is set up that your team must finish 1st or 2nd in our regional tournament to qualify the team for the state tournament, therefore, our greatest competition will always be the teams in our region.

What advice would you give upcoming players?

Advice to upcoming athletes would be to, as in any sport, practice and play as often as you can because you will get out of it exactly what you put into it.

What do you like best about coaching?

"I like working with the girls as a team and on an individual level."

What did you like most about the season?

"Going home after winning a game and having girls that stuck with it and finished out the season."

What are your plans for next season?

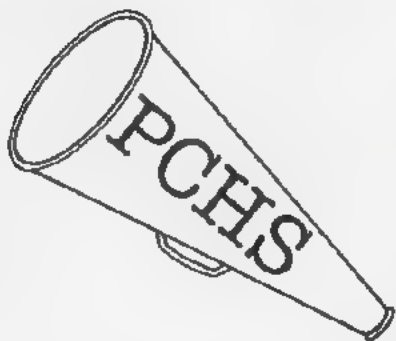

"I am not sure at this point."

Who is our biggest rival and why?

"Greenbrier West; there's a lot of attitude there."

What advice would you give upcoming players?

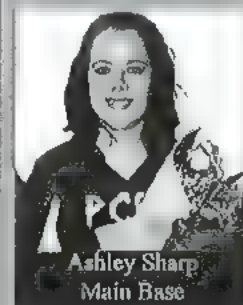

"Make sure that you have the desire to be a cheerleader, and not a 'wanna be.'"

What do you like best about coaching?

The things that I like most about coaching are the high level of monetary compensation, the undying respect, understanding of all the parents whose children are not playing significant minutes, and the exotic pleasure of sleeping in the school bus seat.

What did you like most about the season?

The 14 victories and the knowledge that our young players acquired over the course of the season. Plus, we only graduate two players.

What are your plans for next season?

Next season, I plan to grow a beard and wear bell-bottoms at all home games.

Who is our biggest rival and why?

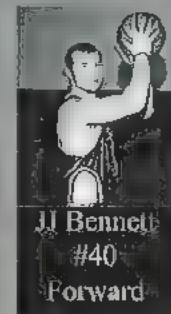

Our biggest rival has consistently been the team that our Warrior Fanatic section has most recently trashed.

What advice would you give upcoming players?

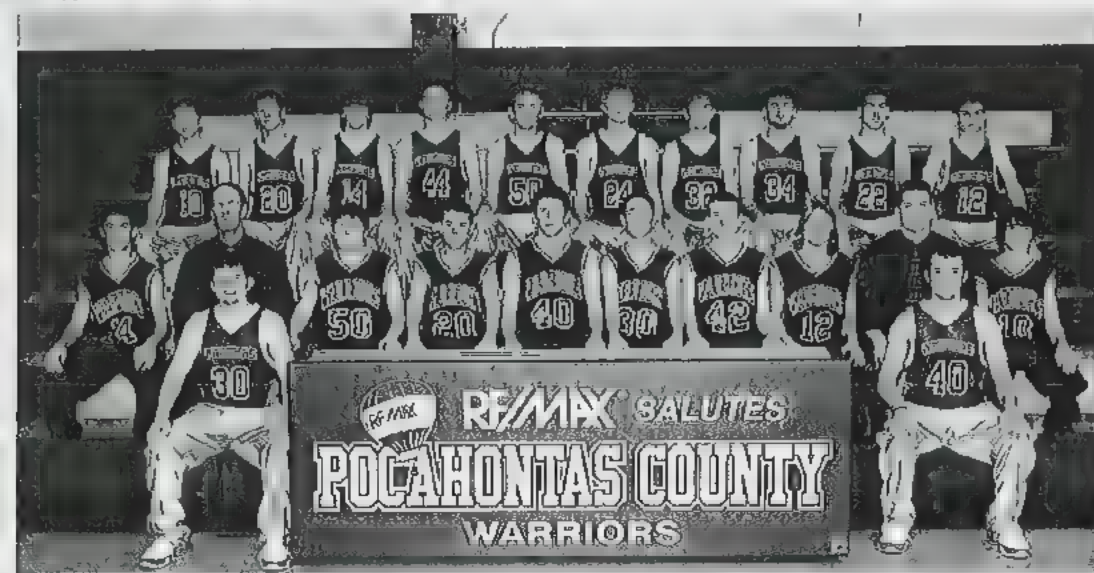

Patience, Grasshopper! (And don't hang on the rim when you dunk!)

What do you like best about coaching?
The opportunity to help kids

What did you like most about the season?
The fact we had a young and inexperienced team; as the season went on they became mature and very competitive.

What are you plans for next season?
Our ultimate goal is to win the state championship.

Who is our biggest rival and why?
It's a tie between Tygart's Valley and Tucker County, because both schools are very competitive, therefore making it a rivalry year in and year out.

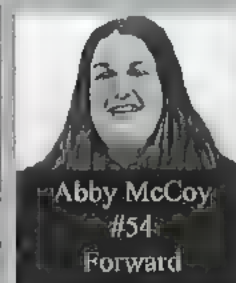

What advice would you give upcoming players?

What do you like best about coaching?

Through baseball, I enjoyed preparing players for challenges they may face, helping players reach their goals, graciously accepting success, and coping with failure.

What did you like most about the season?

We had a veteran group of young men that worked very hard, played well together as a team, and were able to complete the first winning season in Warrior Baseball history.

What are your plans for next season?

I am looking forward to working with a great group of returning and new players, who will continue to work hard and strive for excellence as we set new goals for our team and attempt to reach new heights.

Who is our biggest rival and why?

The Tygarts Valley Bulldogs are definitely our biggest rival in baseball. Tygarts Valley is our closest game. We have split games in the regular season the past two years, so we are usually evenly matched. For the past few years we have competed against each other in the first round of playoffs.

What advice would you give upcoming players?

Be prepared to work hard and have fun while pushing yourself to be the best you can be, on the field and off.

What do you like best about coaching?
I enjoy teaching the girls how to play softball, learning the skills for both offense and defense.

What did you like most about the season?
The team was proud and well motivated; they didn't give up when we got in tough situations.

What are your plans for next season?
To continue to build and win the sectionals next year.

Who is our biggest rival and why?
I don't believe in Rivalry; it takes your focus away and it's easy to beat yourself or lose integrity.

What advice would you give upcoming players?
Play lots of softball this summer, break in your glove, and practice batting.

Each year P.C.H.S. takes the time to recognize the great accomplishments our students have made throughout the year. The Achievement Banquet held on May 20 was a great success. National Honor Society hosted this event with the help of local banks and their advisor, Mrs. Linda VanReenen. This banquet recognizes outstanding seniors by awarding scholarships and recognizes students who have excelled. The Sports Banquet was also a big hit. Students who excel in the classroom as well as on the field or in the gym were recognized for their various abilities through awards presented by the athletic department. Awards Day, hosted by the senior class, was a time for students to be recognized for their efforts in various academic and vocational classes. It was a chance for every student to see what honors they could strive to obtain through hard work and dedication. This was also the first in many years for the FFA Banquet. Many agriculture students were recognized for their efforts.

We did it!

Graduation was held on May 31, 2008, at 11 a.m. in the Pocahontas County High School Gymnasium, with 89 students graduating. The class attempted to have graduation outside, but the plan failed by a final vote. The ceremony began with the class walking in as a whole. This was the first year ever that the graduates had worn black and maroon gowns. They walked in as Linda VanReenen played the processional "Pomp and Circumstances." After everyone was seated, Ethan Lash gave the invocation. Hannah Giddings and Zach Grimes followed with the address of welcome. Following, Haley Cutlip decided to share one of her most inspirational poem "The Road Not Taken" by Robert Frost. After Haley read her poem, Kachine Jones, Caitlin Sharp, Brittany Judy, and Katie Workman reflected back on their high school years, discussing the events that occurred each year. When Reflections was over, the co-valedictorians Amy Sharp and Katherine Beverage presented the student address, telling students of their appreciation in being a part of the class of 2008. Ashley Fischer wrote an original poem for graduation titled "The Nest," which she shared after the student address. Next, the salutatorian, Jamey Lockman gave the address of appreciation, thanking all the staff members for a job well done. This year, the senior class lost a member of their crew, Loren H. Buzzard who died from a tragic automobile accident. Nicholas Irvine and Kurt Mothes celebrated Loren's life by reflecting back on all the memories they shared. Later on, Kendra Taylor presented the class of 2008 to receive their diplomas. Mr. Sanders, Mr. Lindsey, Dr. Law, and the senior sponsors presented the diplomas to all 89 graduates. After the diplomas were handed out, the seniors left the building while "The Running Free" by Cohed and Cambria played in memory of Loren Buzzard. This year was one of the most successful classes because one-third of the class were honor graduates who earned a 3.5 GPA or higher.

Loren Hall Buzzard

Loren Hall Buzzard, age 18, of Huntersville, died Sunday, May 4, 2008, at the University of Virginia Hospital in Charlottesville, Virginia, from injuries received in an auto accident.

Loren was a senior at Pocahontas County High School, a volunteer DJ at WVMR Radio, a member of Upward Bound Program, PCHS Yearbook staff and was in the band, "Vending Machine."

Born January 5, 1990, at Fairlea, he was the son of James Andrew and Diane Rose Williams Buzzard.

He is also survived by one sister, Colleen Mary-Junison Buzzard, at home, and two brothers, Dana Andrew Buzzard, of Huntersville, and James Wayne Lowry, of Charleston.

Sunday car accident claims high school senior

Pamela Pritt
Editor

An early morning car accident on Sunday claimed the life of a Pocahontas County High School senior.

According to an accident report filed by Sergeant Brad Totten, of the Pocahontas County Sheriff's Department, Loren Buzzard, 18, of Huntersville was headed south on Rt. 28 about 4.1 miles north of the Rt. 39 intersection when his 1990 Toyota crossed the center line, ran off the east side of the highway and struck a tree. The accident happened at 1:55 a.m.

The report said Buzzard was transported to Pocahontas Memorial Hospital by Marlinton Rescue Squad and later flown to the University of Virginia Hospital in Charlottesville, Virginia. He died there shortly after 10 a.m., according to the report.

No alcohol was involved, the report said.

Services for Buzzard will be held at PCHS Thursday at 4 p.m.

According to PCHS acting assistant principal Melvin Lindsay, grief counseling has been available to students at the school all week.

Reflections

I remember when we were playing football at the Upward Bound Olympics and he was center on offense and I went in for him on defense. He blocked everybody from coming in on the quarterback and therefore, we won, because nobody could get through the line and get the flag.

Cody Rourke

When we played in the talent show, the and I just were rocking out and doing our own thing. That's what he was about, how he wanted to do some thing and he didn't care who thought what about him.

Thomas Webb

I remember seeing Loren and his little sister walking to the flower shop, holding hands, with their matching long bright orange hair shining in the sun.

Staci Kelly

I look back to the little four one year, the bright smile on his face every time we rode a roller coaster. I will never forget.

Congratulations & Best Wishes!

Erica Arbogast: I will be a college graduate, happily married with 2 children.

Tiffany Arbogast: Graduated from college, living on a huge farm in a big log house, being happy and successful.

J.J. Bennett: In 10 years I will be with Jen. I will have a nice house, a nice job, along with a nice vehicle, and having things that I've always wanted and just living life.

Justin Beverage: Out of state working for a major software development company and in my spare time hunting down drug lords in Guatemala.

Katherine Beverage: Finished with my Physical Therapy degree, working for a sports team and on the Dallas Cowboys Cheerleading Squad!

Brenda Boiyard: In 10 years, I will be on a desert island, surrounded by natives screaming in a language I can't understand.

Lee Brown: In 10 years I see myself graduated from college. I will hopefully be making lots of money working for the forest service.

Jaenna Burns: I will be a graduate from Fairmont University with a degree in business management running the Dairy Queens! HAHA.

Jeremy Burns: In 10 years I hope to be married to Pam, have a big house, two kids, a small farm, EXTREMELY wealthy, working in my private realty company, but mostly working with Lucas and his fruit roll-up factories.

Harry Cain: In 10 years I'll just be starting some career in the health field and settling down with my love . . . Curtis Tenney.

Patricia Cochran: I will still be with the most amazing person in my life, Jesse Dulaney, having our own home, my own lifted truck . . . & happily married Cami Cosner: Ten years from now I will be graduated from college, living on the beach with my husband & child.

Casey Currence: I see myself living somewhere in Puerto Rico, far away from rednecks & cold weather!

Haley Cutlip: I will be back in Pocahontas County working at Seneca Trail Physical Therapy and pregnant.

Lucas Faulkner: Rich, buying up all Jeremy's property from his real estate agency to put my fruit roll up factories on.

Ashley Fischer: Graduated from Harvard Law School with a doctorate in pro-belching and touring as a backup dancer for Mickey Mouse.

Raymond Ford: Living out West, trying to convince Aaron to come down from his Mom's attic.

Emily Friel: In 10 years I see myself graduated from college, working full time, ready to settle down and have a family.

Hannah Giddings: Living in Corsica, in a cardboard box with a pool, butlers and chefs, selling seashell crafts for a living.

Jimmy Goldizen: Hopefully in 10 years I will be living on a big farm in Grant County.

Shawnee Greulich: In 10 years, I see myself working, married, and having two kids.

Zach Grimes: In ten years I will be running the E.R. at Johns Hopkins Hospital and looking for love.

Richie Hedrick: In ten years, I think I will be a high performance mechanic, having a house of my own & 3 cars & all of them be paid off.

Dan Hoover: I want to be a police officer and catch bad guys. I also want to work at the nursing home and help patients. I then want to go home and go to church on Sundays to learn about Jesus.

Casey Horton: Doing nothing more than living life in the crazy world to come.

Brittany Judy: In 10 years I will be a successful nurse living on the beach with a husband and 2 kids.

Staci Kelley: I will be happily married with a child somewhere with a sidewalk, a backyard, & a white picket fence.

Ethan Lash: Hopefully working a good job, living with that special someone, feeling content but not yet fulfilled.

Janney Lockman: Living in a cave in Canada, leaving once a year to play bass for the naked jam at Clifftop.

Vanessa Malcomb: Running barefoot through open fields and climbing willow trees.

Abby McCoy: In 10 years I predict to have a Masters degree, the perfect job, a beautiful house and a wonderful husband.

Jarrett McLaughlin: In 10 years I predict that I'll be working at a job I love and maybe married & hopefully no children yet.

Amy Mitchell: Happy wherever I may be.

Kelly Starr: Hopefully in the next 10 years, after my around-the-world travels, I'll be living in London, working for an advertisement co. In the 'West End' being able to travel when and wherever I want, and keeping a country house back here in Pocahontas County.

David Mitchell: Celebrating the 10-year anniversary of predicting what will happen in ten years.

Aaron Moore: I see myself playing guitar hero in my mom's attic.

Kurt Mothes: In 2018, I will be growing bananas and chillin' with the yettie on our island in a freshly melted Antarctica.

Will Pennington: In 10 years I'll be working in the wonderful woods as a timber cutter. I'll be married to the wonderful, sweetest, loving girl ever (Mercedes), hopefully have my house built and done. I'll still be living here on my home front.

Kristen Pollard: Married, maybe with a kid, working as a pediatrician, living comfortably in my beach house, soaking up the sun.

ril Pratt: Somewhere away from here, never to be found for my 10-year reunion.
 yla Ramsey: 10 years from now I will be living in a shack mumbling French while cutting my toenails cil Rappold: Running Microsoft and Apple after defeating Bill Gates and Steve Jobs in the Flash Flash Revolution World ampionship.
 phen Rebinski: Living in Florida, working for a 3D- graphics company.
 ty Rexrode: I see myself graduated from college as a physical therapist or a physical education teacher and raising a family.
 stin Riffer: Working as a successful electrician & driving fast vehicles.
 elsa Ryder: Graduated with a business degree, exploring the world and hopefully living on a big ranch in Montana, oyng the rodeo life.
 istin Shafer: In 10 years I see myself living with my husband, and my neighbor will be Tiffany y Sharp: Very successful pharmacist, traveling the world with Billy, and playing soccer on every beach we come to.
 itlin Sharp: Working on my master's degree to become a nurse practitioner specializing in women's health and living in a urban area.
 essa Sharp: In ten years, I see myself graduated from college, living in my own home, and raising my beautiful baby boy ndyn.
 therine Simmons: In 10 years, I'll be a cheerleading coach, married with a kid & taking my squad to states.
 an Stull: In 10 years I will be a successful Marine working on my retirement.
 ndra Taylor: Starting up my veterinary clinic, living on a farm with my donkeys, and bringing home stray animals every y.
 cenna Turbin: I'll have a great job, living in a beach house, with one kid, and married to David Adam Scott.
 las Vandevender: I plan to be married, have a house, a good welding job and five bear dogs and a smal. farm.
 sha Vandevender: I will be finished with college, working as a secretary in a company, & having a husband and two kids gel Vela: A successful Insurance Agent, married to Adam, raising our child and still residing in Buckeye.
 itney Wayne: I hope to be married with one child, and still trying to figure out what I want to do with the rest of my life.
 tie Workman: I see myself graduated from law school, ready to make the big bucks, happily married, and expecting my first eight children.
 sha Workman: Hopefully in the next 10 years, I will find Mr. Right. I will be living in paradise, soaking up the sun, feeling warm breeze, and running my hands & feet through sand.
 rick Workman: In 10 years I shall be a doctor at a major hospital. I shall be making over $120,000 per year, driving a er BMW, and living on a multi-million tract of land.
